“ 2001 Mom, My 2 sons and I took a cross country trip to Seattle, WA. While traveling thru Yellowstone Natl Park we came across a cow moose grazing down an embankment alongside the road, after careful instructions from mom/Gram on being quiet so as not to scare the moose, mom/Gram discovers the lights are still shining on our suburban, she proceeds to let us know this by yelling across the road. "Teresa, you're lights are on"....

When anyone would visit Mom would always ask if you were hungry n she'd offer whatever she had, if you left her house hungry that was your fault. Mom always had a smile and a hug for everyone she met even people she never met.
