“ Ed, you always had such a huge heart. It didn't matter what or who, you loved to make the ones you love happy. We had a lot of adventures and stories in the time we had together. The jokes we used to tell and play on. There was never a time when we got together where we were not in stitches from laughing so hard. You took me under your wing several times and I will never forget these times. You also taught me to pay it forward. We could always pick up a conversation a few years later right where we left off. Love and respect my friend.
