

James R. Neiswender

November 14, 1953 - November 20, 2025

James (Jim) Richard Neiswender, 72 of Duncannon passed away at home surrounded by his family on Thursday, November 20th, 2025, after an aggressive battle with cancer. He was born on November 14, 1953, in Hershey Pennsylvania.

Jim was a beloved husband, father, grandfather, great grandfather, and friend to many. Those who knew him, knew that he loved hunting, fishing, and spending time with his family. He spent 50+ years in the IBEW Local 143.

He is survived by his wife, Dawn, and his daughter Dulcie (Neiswender) Adams. He also leaves behind his grandchildren Damon Bomgardner, husband of Erica (Dulac), Dakota Fulmer, Taylor (Fulmer) Lineweaver, wife of James, and his Great Granddaughter Willow Bomgardner. Among them is his brother, Edward Neiswender, husband of Danielle (Gasper), and many nieces and nephews in Pennsylvania and Colorado. He is preceded in death by his parents, Charles and Dorothy (Smith) Neiswender, daughter, Stacie Neiswender-Coy, and brother, Frank Neiswender.

Jim was admired by many, and will always be remembered for his determination to do anything himself, whenever possible. His passing has left a void in the hearts of all lives that were touched by him. To honor his wishes, no services will be held. We kindly ask you to keep sharing stories and talking about Jim whenever you can.

“ If Jim was your friend you didn't need any more. Had the pleasure of working with Jim on and off over many years. Often wonder how many deer he killed with Herre Bros. vans when living in Piketown. I had a early retirement due to disability and Jim would always stop on his way home from work to see if I was ok. Even after he retired he would stop and help me with a project or just drink coffee and bs. What a fisherman, had a few laughs when he flipped his kayak while we were on the river. Thanks for the great memories and the privilege of being your friend.

“ When I met Jim I was a 3rd year apprentice and he was the training director and assistant BA for local 143. He was always fair but tough. I always had a great laugh when he would be wearing 2 or 3 pairs of glasses at the same time. There was more than one time when I called him and asked “ Ok Jim what the hell do I do?” He would dispense his wisdom and advice and everything worked out for me.
He was a great Electrician and mentor.

“ Words can hardly express how much Jim will be missed by so many. He was truly old school and could fix or figure out whatever it took to get things done. The best thing you could do for Jim was let him do something for you! He would have given the shirt off his back and share anything you needed which he had. Jim was not only my neighbor, but part of my family and best of friends. We spent many a hour fixing the world's problem's. We sure chased those pesky deer around. It is only because of Jim's generosity that I could hunt at all these past several years. There won't be a day gone by I won't think of him. I always saw him going by on the four wheeler on our trail cam, I'll keep looking though. We all can be proud to have known Jim and the world is a better place because of him! Jim was one of the most honorable and honest person I knew. He was one of a kind and they don't make em like that anymore! I remember when Jim met my wife. He was coming in from hunting dressed in camo walking towards her and she thought who is this. Here he just wanted to know how I made out hunting. Our thoughts and prayers go out to his family. Rest assured, he is back in his Happy Hunting Grounds. See ya. on the trail! Bruce and Paula McCrone

“ I want to share my deepest condolences and prayers for all who loved Jim.

One unforgettable story is of the three of us—Jim, Ed, and me—entering the as the “Flying Dutchmen” team in a wild cow milking contest at a rodeo in Colorado. We were actually doing well, heading toward that incredible $50 prize, until Jim slipped in the mud and sent the milk flying just before he made it across the arena. We laughed then, and I still smile today thinking of it.

Another favorite memory is from our adventures in the Gunnison Canyon. When Jim heard how many trout we caught, he convinced us to go back—and then out-fished both of us by pulling trout right out of the rapids, a spot we didn’t even think held fish.

I’m grateful to have known Jim—to have shared laughter, competition, fishing trips, and moments of pure joy.

Wishing your family comfort, peace, and the blessing of knowing how many lives Jim touched. May you also feel the peace and healing of Jesus.

*With sympathy and gratitude for his life,
Byron*

“ What a man! So knowledgeable and eager to help anyone. I can't enter my home without thinking of the countless hours he spent with my son while building it. I liked him the moment I met him. Prayers for the family.
